1.0 Welcome

Welcome! We're thrilled you've decided to join our team at Edelman Financial Engines. We take pride in our employees as well as the products and services we provide, and we want to ensure your time here is rewarding.

1.1 About Edelman Financial Engines

Since 1986, Edelman Financial Engines has been committed to always acting in the best interests of our clients. We were founded on the belief that all investors – not just the wealthy – deserve access to personal, comprehensive financial planning and investment advice. Today, we are America's top independent financial planning and investment advisory firm, recognized by Barron's¹ with 145+ offices² across the country and entrusted by 1.3 million clients to manage more than $284 billion in assets.³

Our unique approach to serving clients combines our advanced methodology and proprietary technology with the attention of a dedicated personal financial planner. Every client's situation and goals are unique, and the powerful fusion of high-tech and high touch allows Edelman Financial Engines to deliver the personal plan and financial confidence that everyone deserves.

¹ The Barron's 2023 Top 100 RIA Firms list, an eight-year annual ranking of independent advisory firms, is qualitative and quantitative, including assets managed by the firms, technology spending, staff diversity, succession planning and other metrics. Firms elect to participate but do not pay to be included in the ranking. Investor experience and returns are not considered.

1.2 Mission and Values

We Help People: We help shape the course of our clients' lives. Like that of a teacher, a physician or even a therapist, our work with our clients changes the very direction of their lives, and that of the generations that follow. This is a powerful moral imperative. This is a privilege. This is what we all do. When we focus on helping people, the business takes care of itself.

We Always Do the Right Thing: For us, this work is not just a job – it's a calling. We're always going to do right by our clients and by each other because the alternative simply isn't an option.

We Say What Needs to Be Said: We owe it to our clients – and to each other – to be clear, forthright and transparent always. This often means telling people what they need to hear, even when it would be much easier to just tell them what they want to hear. It also means having the courage to say the things the rest of the industry won't. We do it because people need the truth, and they need it right now.

We Teach. We Share: We were founded on the idea that access to financial education is a fundamental right for everyone. That this knowledge is not only for a privileged few. We believe our expertise is most valuable when it's shared.

We Commit to Each Other: Our commitment to our clients is matched only by our commitment to one another. We aren't just in this – we're all in, and that requires a deep care for the people with whom we work. We assume positive intentions and believe that we do it best when we do it together. Where others might call it going above and beyond, we simply call it showing up.

We Own It: We don't shy away from the hard stuff – in fact, we seek it out. Because the stuff that matters in life is usually hard. We see issues and problems as opportunities to make right.

“It’s not my job” isn’t in our vocabulary. Whatever it is, we take it on and. Get. It. Done.

We Get Personal: We see our clients and our co-workers as people first – people like us.

We invest in and embrace their stories, goals and imperfections, and take deep pride in being part of their journey.

We Find New Ways: Innovation in financial services is never fast or easy. It takes insight, dedication and, most of all, persistence. For the lives of our clients and the people we haven’t yet reached, we must innovate.

We Figure It Out: There is always a way.

The Company property, including but not limited to phones, computers, tablets, desks, workplace areas or machinery, remains under the control of the Company and is subject to inspection at any time, without notice to any employees, and without their presence. 2.3 Standards of Conduct

To assure safety and security and provide the best possible work environment, we expect employees to follow basic, common-sense rules of conduct that will protect everyone's interests and safety. It is not possible to list all the forms of prohibited behavior, however, the following are examples of unacceptable behavior that may result in disciplinary action, including suspension, demotion, or termination of employment, at the discretion of the Company:

- Falsification of employment records, employment information or work-related information of the Company;

Note: This prohibition applies only to the extent allowed by applicable state law. In those states that specifically give the employee the right to maintain a lawfully possessed firearm in a locked vehicle in the employer's parking lot, employees will be permitted to maintain a firearm in their own locked vehicle in compliance with the law. Under those circumstances, employees are strictly prohibited from removing the firearm from their vehicle or carrying it on their person or into a building.

Most fundamentally, at all times, the Company and its employees should act as a fiduciary. Employees are required to follow the Standards of Conduct in the Code of Ethics policy. You can find the full policy by visiting the Company Policies and Procedures portal.

Although employment may be terminated at-will by either the employee or the Company at any time, without following any formal system of discipline or warning, we may exercise discretion to utilize forms of discipline that are less severe than termination. Examples of less severe forms of discipline include verbal warnings, written warnings, demotions, and suspensions. Although one or more of these forms of discipline may be taken, no formal order or procedures are necessary. The Company reserves the right to determine which type of disciplinary action to issue in response to any type of performance issue or rule violation.

This statement of prohibited conduct does not alter or limit the policy of at-will employment. Either the employee or the Company may terminate the employment relationship at any time for any reason, with or without cause, and with or without notice. As previously set forth in this handbook, only the CEO of the Company or his or her authorized representative has the authority to enter into an employment agreement that alters the fact that the employment relationship is at-will, and any such agreement must be in writing signed by the CEO of the Company or his or her authorized representative.

2.4 Commitment to Diversity and Anti-Harassment Policy

Equal Employment Opportunity

The Company is an equal opportunity employer. We prohibit discrimination against any applicant or employee based on any legally recognized basis, including, but not limited to: race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, national origin or ancestry, citizenship status, physical or mental disability, genetic information (including testing and characteristics), or any other status protected by centre, state or local law. Our commitment to equal opportunity employment applies to all persons involved in our operations and prohibits unlawful discrimination by any employee, including supervisors and co-workers.

The Company has a detailed 'Equal Employment Opportunity Policy' that pertains to various aspects of employment of persons with disabilities. This policy can be accessed by all the Employees here.

Unlawful Harassment

The Company is committed to providing a work environment that is free of harassment. As a result, the Company maintains a strict policy prohibiting harassment against applicants and employees based on race, color, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, national origin or ancestry, physical or mental disability, genetic information, or any other status protected by centre, state or local law.

The Company's anti-harassment policy applies to all persons involved in its operations, regardless of their position, and prohibits harassing conduct by any employee of the Company, including supervisors, managers and nonsupervisory employees. This policy also protects employees from prohibited harassment by third parties, such as customers, vendors, clients, visitors or temporary or seasonal workers. If such harassment occurs in the workplace by someone not employed by the Company, the procedures in this policy should be followed. The workplace includes actual worksites, any setting in which work-related business is being conducted (whether during or after normal business hours), company-sponsored events or company owned/controlled property.

Harassment may include behavior similar to the illustrations set out below. However, this is not an exhaustive list:

- Verbal conduct including taunting, jokes, threats, epithets, derogatory comments or slurs based on an individual's protected status;
- Visual and/or written conduct including derogatory posters, photographs, calendars, cartoons, drawings, websites, emails, text messages or gestures based on an individual's protected status; and
- Physical conduct including assault, unwanted touching or blocking normal movement because of an individual's protected status.

Harassment Complaint Procedure

Any employee who believes that they have been harassed, discriminated against or subject to retaliation by a co-worker, supervisor, agent, client, vendor or customer of the Company, in violation of the foregoing policies, or who is aware of such harassment discrimination of or retaliation against others, should immediately provide a written or verbal report to their supervisor, any other member of management or Human Resources to report such incidents. After a report is received, a thorough and objective investigation by management will be undertaken. The investigation will be completed and a determination made and communicated to the employee as soon as practical. The Company expects that all employees fully cooperate with any investigation conducted by the Company into a complaint of proscribed harassment, discrimination or retaliation, or regarding the alleged violation of any other Company policies.

If we determine that this policy has been violated, remedial action will be taken, commensurate with the severity of the offense. Appropriate action will also be taken to deter any future harassment or discrimination prohibited by this policy. If a complaint of prohibited harassment, discrimination or retaliation is substantiated, appropriate disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment, will be taken.

Protection Against Retaliation

Retaliation is prohibited against any person by another employee or by the Company for using this complaint procedure, reporting proscribed harassment or for filing, testifying, assisting or participating in any manner in any investigation, proceeding or hearing conducted by a governmental enforcement agency. Prohibited retaliation includes, but is not limited to, termination, demotion, suspension, failure to hire or consider for hire, failure to give equal consideration in making employment decisions, failure to make employment recommendations impartially, adversely affecting working conditions or otherwise denying any employment benefit.

An employee should report any retaliation prohibited by this policy to their supervisor, any management team member, to Human Resources or to the Company Whistleblower Hotline. Employees can contact Human Resources to report such incidents. Any report of retaliatory conduct will be investigated in a thorough and objective manner. If a report of retaliation is substantiated, appropriate disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment, will be taken.

Good Faith

The initiation of a good faith complaint of harassment or retaliation will not be grounds for disciplinary action, even if the allegations cannot be substantiated. Any individual who makes a complaint that is demonstrated to be intentionally false may be subject to discipline, up to and including termination.

2.5 Whistleblower and Anti-Retaliation Policy

We Encourage A Speak Up Culture

Choosing to speak up about workplace concerns helps build a healthy, ethical and compliant company and is part of our culture. To promote that culture, the Company encourages employees to speak up and raise questions and concerns promptly about any situation that may violate our Standards of Conduct, our core values or our policies. At the Company, our people are our most valuable asset. It benefits all of us if we raise our concerns so the Company may consider them carefully and address them properly.

Follow the Company's Commitment to our Code and the Law

The Company is deeply committed to promoting a culture of ethical conduct and compliance with:

- Our Code, Core Values and all Company policies;
- The laws, rules and regulations that govern our business operations; and
- Best practices in accounting, auditing and financial reporting matters.

We expect all of our employees, officers, directors and agents to follow this commitment in all aspects of their work.

Raise Good Faith Questions and Concerns About Conduct that May Violate our Code

Consistent with our commitment to ethics, compliance and the law, we welcome your good faith questions and concerns about any conduct you believe may violate our Code, especially conduct that may be illegal, fraudulent, unethical or retaliatory. For purposes of this policy, and because our Code captures standards of ethics and compliance at a broad level, references to our "Code" should be read to encompass all of our obligations to perform our jobs in a manner that is consistent with the Company's policies and procedures, as well as applicable laws.

We promote an environment that fosters honest, good faith communications about matters of conduct related to our business activities, whether that conduct occurs within the Company, involves one of the Company's contractors, suppliers, consultants or clients, or involves any other party with a business relationship to the Company.

Nothing in this handbook prohibits an employee from reporting concerns to, filing a charge or complaint with, making lawful disclosures to, providing documents or other information to or participating in an investigation or hearing conducted by the centre, state, local or any other government agency charged with the enforcement of any laws.

The Company Does Not Tolerate Retaliation

Coming forward with questions or concerns may sometimes feel like a difficult decision, but we are committed to fostering an environment that does not deter individuals from speaking up when they observe conduct that may violate our Code. For that reason, the Company will not tolerate retaliation of any kind when an employee in good faith raises a question or concern about a violation or suspected violation of our Code, our policies or the laws and regulations under which we do business, or because the employee participates in or cooperates with an investigation of such concerns.

Retaliation is any conduct that would reasonably dissuade an employee from raising, reporting or communicating about good faith concerns through our internal reporting channels or with any governmental authority, or from participating in or cooperating with an investigation or legal proceeding raising such concerns.

Retaliation may occur through conduct or written communication and may take many forms, including actual or implied threats, verbal or nonverbal behaviors, changes to the terms or conditions of employment, coercion, bullying, intimidation or deliberate exclusionary behaviors.

The following are examples of potential retaliation the Company prohibits:

- Adverse employment action affecting an employee's salary or compensation;
- Demotion, suspension or termination of employment;
- Taking away opportunities for advancement;
- Excluding an employee from important meetings;
- Threatening an employee who has made a report;
- Directing an employee who has made a report not to report to outside regulators;
- Deliberately rude or hostile behaviors or speech; and
- Creating or allowing the creation of a work atmosphere that is hostile toward an employee who has reported a concern.

It is the Company's policy to adhere to all applicable laws protecting our employees against unlawful retaliation or discrimination as a result of their raising good faith questions or concerns. If you are ever aware of an instance or threat of retaliation, please immediately report it.

How to Raise Questions and Concerns

Employees can submit their good faith questions or concerns about conduct they believe may violate our Code, our policies or the laws and regulations under which we do business using one of the following methods:

In person or email to:

- Their supervisor or manager
- Human Resources
- Compliance
- Legal

Online Portal:

Visit www.lighthouse-services.com/edelmanfinancialengines to submit a report using the Lighthouse Anonymous Reporting portal. All submissions will be sent to the General Counsel and CCO for further investigation.

By Phone:

Call Lighthouse, an anonymous hotline: 1-855-222-1586.

When an employee raises a concern, the Company will maintain confidentiality to the fullest extent possible, consistent with applicable legal requirements and the need to conduct an adequate investigation or review.

When raising concerns, we ask that employees provide as much detailed information as possible, including the background and history of the concern, names, dates and places where possible, and the reasons why the situation is cause for concern. This is especially important for concerns raised anonymously, so that the Company may conduct an appropriate review and, if necessary, begin an investigation.

What the Company Will Do

The Company is committed to reviewing all reported concerns, conducting proper, fair and thorough investigations tailored to the circumstances, and taking appropriate remedial and concluding steps as warranted. All action taken by the Company in response to a concern will necessarily depend on the nature and severity of the concern. This may include initial inquiries and fact-gathering to decide whether an investigation is appropriate and, if so, the form and scope of the investigation. Note that an investigation into concerns raised is not an indication that they have either been confirmed or rejected. The Company complies with the law in conducting investigations and expects that employees will cooperate with an investigation, except when voluntary compliance with an investigation is being requested. The Company also expects that employees will provide truthful information when participating in an investigation.

Remember, all good faith concerns and reports raised under this policy will be taken seriously.

Adherence to This Policy

Employees who believe that they have been subjected to any conduct that violates this policy may register a complaint using the procedures outlined above. Any employee who unlawfully discriminates or retaliates against another employee as a result of their protected actions as described in this policy may be subject to corrective action, up to and including termination.

2.6 Drug/Alcohol Free Workplace

The Company is committed to providing a safe, healthy and productive work environment. Consistent with this commitment, it is the intent of the Company to maintain a drug free workplace. Alcohol use is permitted in moderation during select company events or other employee gatherings. Being under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs (as classified under centre, state or local laws), including marijuana, while on the job may pose a serious health and safety risk to others, which will not be tolerated.

2.7 Personal Cell Phone/Mobile Device Use

While the Company permits employees to bring personal cell phones and other mobile devices (i.e., phones, tablets, laptops) into the workplace, you must not allow the use of such devices to interfere with your job duties or impact workplace safety and health.

Use of personal cell phones and mobile devices at work can be distracting and disruptive and cause a loss of productivity. Thus, you should primarily use such personal devices during nonworking time, such as breaks and meal periods. During this time, use devices in a manner that is courteous to those around you.

If you are required to use a personal mobile device for performing work, you may be eligible to receive a monthly stipend. This stipend is meant to offset some of the expense associated with the use of a personal device. If eligible, the monthly stipend will be paid once a month and requires departmental Executive (L1) approval. You are expected to comply with Company policies regarding the protection of confidential and proprietary information when using personal devices.

All Company and client-related electronic communications must be on the Company's systems, and all electronic communication methods must be approved by the CISO and CCO, have a retention method and be retained for the required period(s). Please visit the Company Policies and Procedures portal to review the full Code of Ethics Electronic Communications policy.

While operating a vehicle on work time, the Company requires that the driver's personal cell phone/mobile device be turned off. If you need to make or receive a phone call while driving, pull off the road to a safe location unless you have the correct hands-free equipment for the device that is in compliance with applicable state laws.

2.8 No Recording

Unauthorized electronic surveillance of employees is disruptive to employee morale and inconsistent with the respectful treatment required of our employees. For this reason, no employee may record a conversation or meeting, photograph or video record another employee without their full knowledge and consent.

Secret recordings are strictly prohibited unless authorized in writing by legal counsel. A violation of this provision may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

2.9 No Solicitation/Distribution of Literature

The Company has established the following rules applicable to all employees and nonemployees that govern solicitation, distribution of written material and access to Company property:

- Employees may engage in solicitation activities only during nonworking times. No employee may engage in solicitation during their working time or during the working time of the employee or the employees at whom such activity is directed;
- Employees may distribute or circulate any written or printed material only in non-work areas, during nonworking times. No employee may distribute or circulate any written or printed material in work areas at any time, or during their working time or during the working time of the employee or employees at whom such activity is directed;
- Nonemployees are not permitted to solicit or to distribute written material for any purpose on Company property; and
- Off-duty employees are not permitted in work areas.

Strict compliance with these rules is required.

As used in this policy, "working time" includes all time for which an employee is paid and/or is scheduled to be performing services for the Company; it does not include break periods, meal periods or periods in which an employee is not performing and is not scheduled to be performing services or work for the Company.

2.10 Personal Appearance

How we present ourselves to the world each day says a lot about us, our company and our brand. At the Company, we empower employees to Dress for Your Day and wear appropriate attire that considers your in-person and virtual meeting schedule, travel, and interactions with clients, partners, or special guests.

Appropriate attire can differ based on Your Day, but in general, we have a business casual dress code, which allows for wearing jeans. If Your Day includes being visible in either in-person or virtual environments where clients or partners will be present, the dress code is Business Smart, which does not include wearing jeans. When clients, partners, or special visitors are on site at our Corporate offices, and Business Smart is required, advance notice will be provided.

If Your Day requires Business Smart, this is the proper attire:

- Khakis, slacks, skirt, sweater, casual blouse, button down or golf shirts, sport coat is optional;
- Jeans are not considered to be Business Smart.

There are also times where we may have both in-person and virtual events that allow for alternative attire – such as wearing team colors or costumes. This will also be communicated to staff in advance.

Regardless of Your Day, we should always take pride in how we present ourselves as employees of EFE. All clothing should be clean and pressed and not be distracting or offensive to others. If jeans are worn, they should not be faded or torn. Clothing with words, terms, or pictures that may be offensive to others should never be worn. If an employee violates the dress code policy, managers or Human Resources may determine that the employee should be sent home.

Fragrant products, including but not limited to perfumes, colognes and scented body lotions or hair products, should be used in moderation out of concern for others with sensitivities or allergies.

Nothing in this policy is intended to prevent employees from wearing a hair or facial hair style that is consistent with their cultural, ethnic or racial heritage or identity. This policy will be interpreted to comply with applicable local, state or centre laws.

2.11 Social Media Policy

As a registered investment adviser, the Company is required to review and monitor social media usage to ensure adherence to regulatory requirements. The Company has developed a social media program with which all employees are required to comply. To view the full policy, please visit the Company Policies and Procedures portal.

2.12 Third Party Disclosures

From time to time, the Company may become involved in news stories or potential or actual legal proceedings of various kinds. When that happens, lawyers, former employees, members of the media, law enforcement agencies and other outside persons may contact our employees to obtain information about the incident or the actual or potential lawsuit.

If you receive such a contact, you should not speak on behalf of the Company and should refer any call requesting the position of the Company to the Corporate Communications team. If you have any questions about this policy or are not certain what to do when such a contact is made, contact Corporate Communications.

2.13 Office Appearance

In order to convey an image of efficiency and professionalism, in addition to prevent safety hazards, all office areas should be kept neat and orderly.

- Work areas should be kept as neat as possible during the regular workday and should be straightened, and files put away prior to leaving at the end of the workday.
- Posters, pictures, notes, etc., are permitted on the inside of workstation panels if they are tasteful and professional.
- Boxes and other storage items should remain out of sight within a workstation. If workspace is limited, boxes are to be moved to an appropriate location on-site or shipped off-site.
- Employees should leave public areas, such as the copy rooms, mailroom areas, conference rooms and kitchen/break room areas in a clean and orderly condition for guests and other employees.

2.14 Employer Sponsored Social Events

The Company holds periodic social events for employees. Be advised that your attendance at these events is voluntary and does not constitute part of your work-related duties. Any exceptions to this policy must be in writing and signed by a manager prior to the event.

Alcoholic beverages may be available at these events. If you choose to drink alcoholic beverages, you must do so in a responsible manner. Do not drink and drive. Instead, please call a taxi/rideshare or appoint a designated driver.

3.0 Employment

3.1 Employee Eligibility and Work Authorization

The Company is committed to employing only individuals who are authorized to work in India and who comply with applicable immigration and employment law. As a condition of employment, every individual must provide satisfactory evidence of their identity and legal authority to work in India. If the employee cannot verify their right to work, the Company will be required to terminate their employment immediately.

3.2 Background Checks

The Company recognizes the importance of maintaining a safe, secure workplace with employees who are qualified, reliable and nonviolent, and who do not present a risk of serious harm to their co-workers or others. To promote these concerns and interests, the Company reserves the right to investigate an individual's prior employment history, personal references and educational background, as well as other relevant information. Consistent with legal or contractual requirements, the Company also reserves the right to obtain and to review an applicant or an employee's criminal conviction record and related information, and to use such information when making employment decisions, but only to the extent permissible under applicable law.

A pending criminal matter may be considered in appropriate circumstances for business-related reasons, consistent with applicable law. All background checks will be conducted in strict conformity with applicable centre and state reporting laws, anti-discrimination and privacy laws. The Company is an equal opportunity employer and will comply with applicable centre, state and local laws relating to the use of background checks for employment purposes.

3.3 Job Postings

The Company offers all employees the opportunity to be considered for internal transfers and promotions. Any employee in their current position for at least one year and in good standing can apply for an open position. Temporary employees, agency temporaries and other contingent workers are invited to apply for posted openings through <https://www.edelmanfinancialengines.com/careers>. While it is the Company's desire to promote internally, there are business conditions that could cause a position to be filled without being posted or be posted while simultaneously recruiting externally.

3.4 Referral Bonus

3.6 Work Styles

Work styles determine how we connect, engage and work successfully with others in our community. The Company recognizes three categories of employees:

Resident: Employees in a Resident position are required to be in the office 100% of the time because the nature of their work requires them to be on site. The expectation for Full-Time Resident employees is that they will work in the office five days per week. Resident employees will have a specific space assigned to them.

Hybrid: Employees in a Hybrid position are those who perform a mix of in-person collaborative work and work that can be performed effectively either alone or remotely. This category assumes that most standard, “heads-down” work will be done independently, while most meetings or events that foster collaboration, development, culture and innovation will be done in the office and in person. Full-Time Hybrid employees will work in the office as determined by their division’s leader. Hybrid employees will not have a specific space assigned to them. Instead, they will be assigned space based on availability and the setup in the office location to which the employee is assigned.

Virtual: Some positions do not require work to be done in the office on a regular basis. For these employees, performing work remotely is generally acceptable. The expectation, therefore, is that Full-Time Virtual employees will work from home, except for certain in-person meetings or events.

All work style designations are made at EFE’s sole discretion based on business needs. Decisions will be made by the business unit/department based on an assessment of the nature of each position, performance considerations, applicable department needs, talent availability, location and other considerations. See the Work Style Policy in the Company Policies and Procedures portal for more information.

3.7 Work Location Changes

All employees are assigned a work location that is tracked in the Company HRIS and payroll system, UKG. Any change to an employee’s work location must be submitted to Human Resources for manager and HR Business Partner approval.

3.8 Personal Data Changes

It is your obligation to provide the Company with your current contact information, including current mailing address and telephone number. Inform the Company of any changes to your marital or tax withholding status. Failure to do so may result in loss of benefits, errors in tax reporting or delayed receipt of W-2 and other mailings. Changes to personal information can be made directly in UKG.

3.9 Access to Personnel and Medical Records Files

The Company maintains separate medical records files and personnel files for all employees. Files containing medical records are stored separate and apart from any business-related records in a safe, locked, inaccessible location. The medical file is the repository for sensitive and confidential information related to an individual's health, health benefits, health-related leave and/or accommodations and benefits selections and coverage. Medical records are kept confidential in compliance with applicable laws and access is on a "need-to-know" basis only.

Supervisors and others in management may have access to your personnel file for possible employment-related decisions. All employees have the right to inspect and receive a copy of their personnel records.

The Company will make such records available for inspection and/or to receive a copy within 30 calendar days of a written request, or as otherwise required by applicable state law.

Requests for information from employee files should be directed to Human Resources. Human Resources will provide the requested information, including verification of employment within the parameters of the state law. Employees, including management, are prohibited from providing reference information for current or former employees without approval from Human Resources.

3.10 Employment of Relatives and Friends and Relationships at Work

The Company will not employ friends or relatives in circumstances where actual or potential conflicts may arise that could compromise supervision, safety, confidentiality, security and morale at the Company. It is your obligation to inform the Company of any such potential conflict, so the Company can determine how best to respond to the situation.

The Company does not prohibit employees from establishing or maintaining personal relationships with other employees, provided the two employees involved are engaged in a relationship of mutual consent, and provided the relationship does not interfere with the Company or other employees. Neither familial nor romantic relationships are permitted under direct or indirect reporting orders. To avoid this situation, position realignment may be necessary. In this situation, employees should report relationships to Human Resources to determine the nature of changes, if any should occur.

If a candidate of choice (including individuals selected for an internship or other temporary/contractor position) is a family member, the Department Executive (L1) and Chief Human Resources Officer will review for final approval before proceeding to an offer.

3.11 Outside Employment

The Company respects each employee's right to engage in activities outside of employment such as those that are of a personal or private nature, to the extent that such activities do not create a conflict of interest as described in the Conflicts of Interest policy set forth in this handbook or adversely affect the employee's ability to perform their job. Under certain circumstances, however, if an employee's personal conduct adversely affects their performance on the job or makes it impossible for them to carry out any or all of their job duties while at work, appropriate disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment may be appropriate.

For more information, please see the Financial Engines Advisors L.L.C. Code of Ethics Outside Business Activities section located in the Company Policies and Procedures Portal.

3.12 Performance Reviews

Managers and employees are strongly encouraged to discuss job performance and goals on an informal, day-to-day basis. Quarterly check ins and end of year performance reviews should be completed to provide formal written performance feedback. A positive performance review does not guarantee a salary increase or a promotion. These decisions are made at the discretion of the Company and depend on a number of factors in addition to an employee's individual performance.

The Company reserves the right to make any personnel changes (including termination) before or after performance evaluations.

3.13 Disciplinary Procedures

All employees are expected to comply with the Company's standards of behavior, Company policies and performance standards. Any failure to meet these standards will result in discipline, up to and including termination.

1. Subject to the Company's discretion, discipline may progress as follows:
 - a. Verbal first warning, to call an employee's attention to the problem
 - b. Second warning in writing to indicate the seriousness of the problem
 - c. Termination
2. The Company reserves the right to ignore or accelerate any and all steps given the situation.
3. An employee who believes they have been disciplined too severely may submit their complaint in writing to Human Resources.
4. In situations involving serious misconduct or violation of Company policy, the Company, at its discretion, may immediately terminate the offending employee.

Management has the right to immediately suspend any employee in accordance with applicable law. These disciplinary procedures do not guarantee employment for any specified period of time.

4.0 Wage and Hour Policies

The Company will not make deductions to your pay that are prohibited by centre, state or local law. If you have any questions about deductions from your pay, contact your manager. You will be reimbursed in full for any isolated, inadvertent or improper deductions, as defined by law. If an error is found, you will receive an immediate adjustment, which will be paid no later than your next regular payday.

4.6 Recording Time

4.7 Pay Corrections

Notify your manager or Payroll department immediately of any pay discrepancies, unrecorded or miss-recorded work hours or any involuntarily missed meal or break periods.

Falsifying time entries is strictly prohibited. Falsifying time entries includes working "off the clock." If you falsify your own time records, or the time records of co-workers, or if you work off the clock, you will be subject to discipline up to and including termination. Immediately report to Human Resources any employee or manager who falsifies your time entries or encourages or requires you to falsify your time entries or work off the clock.

4.8 Working Hours and Break Periods

An Employee Appreciation Day (EAD) is an occasion when the Company decides to alter its normal business hours. On an EAD, only essential staff are required to work. If a former employee is hired after eighteen (18) months of their departure, but within five (5) years, the employee's original employment tenure will be used to determine an adjusted service date for PTO only. Rehired employees after five (5) years from termination will be considered a new employee and will not be eligible for prior service recognition for benefit plan participation purposes. If a rehired employee returns within eighteen (18) months of their departure, they will be eligible for a sabbatical when they have completed a combined five (5) years of service.

5.2 Employment References

6.0 Benefits and Leave

6.1 Company Offered Benefits

The Company is proud to offer you an attractive mix of healthcare, insurance and other benefit plans for you and your family.

Please refer to the Company benefits site for full details.

6.2 Paid Time Off

The Company provides Paid Time Off (PTO) benefits to allow flexibility in life away from work. The PTO program represents EFE's commitment to its employees, their wellbeing, and a healthy work life balance. PTO may be used for a variety of different reasons. Some examples may include but are not limited to vacation, personal time, illness, or a doctor appointment. Absences requiring the use of accrued PTO or sick time should be logged through UKG. All PTO requests exceeding ten (10) consecutive business days require approval from an employee's immediate manager and next level manager (employee's manager's manager). Employees are responsible for obtaining the appropriate manager approvals via email.

Full-time and part-time employees in India accrue their PTO and sick time through the India Accrual Plan. Employees in this plan accrue hours every month immediately after their start date. As their years of service with the Company increase the number of days offered will also increase according to the chart below:

Years of Service	Days of Paid Time Off (PTO)
0 - 4.9	25 days each year (2.08 days per monthly pay period)
5+	30 days each year (2.5 days per monthly pay period)

Carryover Hours:

Any accrued and unused PTO available at the end of the calendar year will be carried forward to the following years balance.

Maximum Accrual Limit:

The maximum number of hours that can be accrued is 360 hours or 45 days. Once an employee's balance reaches 360 hours, they will stop accruing additional hours each pay period. The employee will need to use some of their time off before accrual will begin again.

Borrowing Time:

If an employee does not have enough accrued PTO to cover their requested time off, PTO borrowing is available up to 40 hours. When borrowing PTO, the employee's balance will be negative, and the deficit will reduce as they accrue PTO each pay period. Additional time needed beyond the 40 hours borrowed will be unpaid.

Part-Time Employees:

Part-Time employees who work less than 30 hours per week, accrue PTO on a prorated basis.

Approvals:

Employees are asked to provide as much notice as possible when requesting time off. Approval for requests other than sick time are subject to business requirements and workloads. Requests for time off (including sick time) must be submitted in UKG. Once a request is submitted, it is routed to the employee's manager to approve within the system.

6.3 Volunteer Policy

Active Full-Time, Reduced Schedule and Regular Part-Time employees are eligible for paid Volunteer Leave to participate in volunteer activities. This time may be taken in hourly increments to equal the total number of hours in a regular workday. Full-Time employees are eligible to receive sixteen (16) hours for the year, and Reduced Schedule employees and Regular Part-Time employees will receive hours on a prorated basis.

6.4 Civil Service

The Company recognizes the importance of those volunteers that make a difference in communities. Any active employee who volunteers for civil service (firefighters, law enforcement, emergency rescue) will be afforded time off to participate in these services. Accrued PTO can be substituted for unpaid leave within the parameters of the leave policy.

6.5 Voting Leave

If your work schedule prevents you from voting on an Election Day, the Company will allow you a reasonable time off to vote. The time when you can go to vote will be at the discretion of your manager, consistent with applicable legal requirements. This time typically would occur at the beginning or ending of a shift.

6.6 Parental School Involvement Leave

The Company supports the involvement of parents in their children's education. If you are the parent, step-parent, foster parent, guardian, employee who stands in loco parentis, grandparent with custody of a child enrolled in grades Kindergarten through Standard +2, or a licensed childcare facility, you may take eight (8) hours of leave per calendar month, up to forty (40) hours a year, to participate in school or childcare related activities at your child's school or licensed daycare. Time off for school appearances using the payroll request code, "school," will pull from available PTO balances or can be unpaid if the employee does not have a PTO balance to cover the time.

If an employee is required to attend school for disciplinary purposes, there is no limit on the amount of time an employee can take. However, verification may need to be provided. Employees must be in an active status to use the paid benefit.

6.7 Sabbatical

The Company affords the opportunity for Full-Time and Part-Time employees, including those earning commission, to take a four (4) week paid sabbatical after completion of the fifth year of service. If a rehired employee returns within eighteen (18) months of their departure, they will be eligible for a sabbatical when they have completed a combined five (5) years of service. The sabbatical period is twenty (20) consecutive business days. Paid time off may not be added prior to or after the sabbatical period. The purpose and intent of a sabbatical is to allow for an extended period of time for an employee to reconnect and recharge, spending the time as they choose versus a more traditional PTO election.

Sabbaticals are subject to manager and Human Resources approval, department and overall needs of the business. Assuming the conditions herein are met, the sabbatical is provided with full pay and regular employee benefits. Employees earning commission will continue to be paid on a commission or draw basis during the sabbatical period.

A sabbatical request should be discussed with the employee's manager and submitted to Human Resources via the AskHR portal a minimum of thirty (30) days prior to dates being requested. This is to ensure proper service levels can be met prior to approval. All requests will be considered on a first-come, first-served basis with Company discretion. The employee must be in good standing and should not have received a Corrective Action Notice within the last six (6) months prior to requesting a sabbatical. To request a sabbatical, employees should complete the Sabbatical Request Form found in the AskHR portal. The request will be automatically routed to their manager and Human Resources for approval. The employee will be notified by Human Resources when their sabbatical is approved.

The eligibility date to take a second, third, etc., sabbatical is calculated from the employee's return date from the previously taken sabbatical. Unused sabbatical time is not paid out upon termination.

Special considerations may be made. Employees may contact Human Resources and their manager to discuss special situations. Bereavement Leave is not used in the calculation of overtime for Non-Exempt employees.

6.9 Sick Pay

The Company provides twelve (12) days of sick pay per calendar year. Notify your manager as far in advance as possible if you are going to take sick time. There may be occasions, such as sudden illness, when you cannot notify your manager in advance. In those situations, provide notification of your circumstances as soon as possible. You may also be requested to provide a certificate of illness to your manager.

Sick Leave may be used:

- For the diagnosis, care or treatment of an existing health condition or preventive care for you or your family member (a child, your own or your spouse/registered domestic partner's parent or legal guardian, a spouse, a registered domestic partner, a grandparent, a grandchild or a sibling).
- For victims of domestic violence, sexual assault or stalking to seek care, psychological counseling, shelter or support services, safety-related measures, or any relief, including restraining orders, to help ensure the health, safety or welfare of the victim or the victim's child.

For employees working in a jurisdiction that has a mandatory sick leave law or a jurisdiction that defines how sick leave may be used or accrued, the Company will comply with all legal requirements, including providing greater or different benefits than those indicated here. In such a situation, the leave the employee is entitled to under the law may run concurrently with the leave provided under this policy, to the extent permissible under applicable law.

The Company prohibits discrimination and/or retaliation against employees who request or use sick time for authorized circumstances protected by law, and against employees who file a complaint about an alleged violation of this policy or inform others about their rights under this policy.

You are required to provide as much advance notice as possible if you wish to take leave to donate an organ or bone marrow. Provide Human Resources with verification from a physician that the donation will take place and that there is a medical necessity for the donation via the AskHR portal. While this leave is paid, you must first use ten (10) days accrued sick or vacation time when donating an organ or five (5) days accrued sick or vacation time when donating bone marrow. Leave taken under this policy does not constitute a break in service for health insurance coverage, accrual of vacation or sick pay or seniority; however, the leave may not run concurrently with any other leave.

The Company will not retaliate against employees who request or take leave in accordance with this policy.

6.11 Parental/Bonding Leave

If you are injured on the job while working at the Company, no matter how slightly, you are to report the incident immediately to your manager. Consistent with applicable state law, failure to report an injury within a reasonable period of time could jeopardize your claim for benefits. Injuries should be reported to Human Resources.

Employees will not be charged leave for company-approved delayed openings or early closings. For employees who choose to not come to work for the entire scheduled day, the employee will be charged their regular scheduled work hours of PTO, or if no leave is available, it will be leave without pay.

During inclement weather or other emergencies, employees should always follow safety recommendations and take extra precaution in the office parking areas and entrance locations.

7.5 Children in the Office

Balancing work and family can be very stressful, and the Company understands this struggle when parents are confronted with emergencies and other difficult situations that disrupt their normal daycare schedule.

It is not acceptable for parents to bring their child to work when the child is sick and could potentially spread illnesses throughout the office.

In the event a situation arises where an employee needs to bring a child into the office, the employee must notify their manager as soon as they are aware of the need to bring their child to work. This time in the office should be limited and only used when daycare providers and other resources are not available.
